

Periodicals

Christian Century

The Christian Century website states that “the Christian Century is a magazine that believes the Christian faith calls people to a profound engagement with the world -- an engagement of head and heart. We think Christians must articulate their faith in a way that is socially meaningful and intellectually compelling. That's why the magazine examines issues of politics and culture as well as theology, and that's why it pays attention to the challenges of faith that arise in our everyday lives as parents, friends, spouses, and citizens. We also think that faith is nurtured in community -- that's why we care about handing down the rich practices of the Christian tradition as lived out in congregations and, yes, in ‘organized religion.’”

Christianity Today

A monthly magazine devoted to commentary on current events and culture from a Christian perspective.

The Chronicle of Higher Education

A weekly newspaper that focuses on issues in higher education, the Chronicle contains critical articles, reviews, interviews, and valuable information on institutes of higher learning in the United States.

The Cresset

A review of literature, arts, and public affairs published by the Valparaiso University Press, The Cresset is a forum for intelligent ideas and informed opinion. It includes poetry, fiction, book and film reviews, and critical articles and essays on religion and culture.

The Hedgehog Review: Critical Reflections on Contemporary Culture

“The Hedgehog Review is an interdisciplinary, academic journal of critical reflections on contemporary culture. Each issue addresses a single theme with articles, an interview, a review essay, and a bibliography written by scholars from throughout the disciplines.”

Intersections

A quarterly journal, Intersections, through articles and reviews, addresses issues of faith, life, and learning at the colleges and universities of the ELCA.

The Lutheran

The website of The Lutheran states that, “The Lutheran is the magazine of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America... The magazine is a four-color monthly whose job it is to bring news of the church — local, national and international — to... the ELCA member. We strive to explore our Christian faith on a personal, congregational and worldwide basis through stories that educate, inspire and nurture faith.”